Product Description

With the ViewSonic® VSR100 ViewConnect Pro display adapter powered by EZCast, users can wirelessly stream 4K content from their own devices (such as desktop PCs, laptops, tablets, and mobile phones), to any commercial display, interactive display, or projector. The VSR100 supports up to four display sources in split-screen mode and allows multiple users to collaborate on the same display. With multi-screen broadcasting, users can stream their content to multiple displays without hassle.
